

GARP Announces New August 2022 Date for FRM Exam

Additional Part I Exam sitting offers candidates increased flexibility, expedited path to certification

JERSEY CITY, NJ, March 1, 2022 – The Global Association of Risk Professionals (GARP) announced today it will add an August date to this year’s Financial Risk Manager (FRM®) Exam schedule, providing candidates with an additional testing opportunity in 2022.

The new August offering is on Aug. 6, 2022 and will be for the FRM Exam Part I only. Registration opens on April 1. Previously announced FRM dates for May and November 2022 are not affected. The complete 2022 FRM schedule is as follows:

- FRM Exam Part I:
 - May 7-20
 - August 6
 - Nov. 5-18
- FRM Exam Part II:
 - May 21-27
 - Nov. 19-25

GARP’s decision to add an August date aligns with its 2021 FRM Exams, which saw the association offering Part I in July. This mid-year option gives candidates additional scheduling flexibility as they navigate COVID-related uncertainty in their respective regions.

“COVID-19 is still affecting our candidates all over the world,” said William May, GARP’s global head of certifications and educational programs. “Just as it did in 2021, we hope an additional Part I Exam date helps individuals whose work and school lives remain impacted by the pandemic.”

August’s FRM date also offers many a new path to becoming an FRM before the end of 2022. Candidates who pass Part I in August can earn their certification in under four months if they pass the FRM Exam Part II during November’s administration.

“As always, our main intention is helping current and future generations of risk professionals acquire the skills and knowledge they need to perform their jobs and be at the forefront of emerging trends and current practice,” said Richard Apostolik, president and CEO of GARP. “An August exam is our way of providing greater choice for candidates and acknowledging the challenges we all continue to face.”
