GARP Announces Plans for 2020 Financial Risk and Energy Risk Exams

Company Will Offer Certifications Globally Later This Year

JERSEY CITY, NJ, March 31, 2020 – The Global Association of Risk Professionals (GARP) has announced a revised schedule of its global Exams for both the Financial Risk Manager (FRM®) and Energy Risk Professional (ERP®). Every year, GARP administers its FRM and ERP Exams in two sessions — one in May and one in November. Earlier this month, GARP announced it was postponing May 2020 Exams due to uncertainty and risks associated with the global COVID-19 pandemic.

GARP has revised its Exam schedule as follows:

- May 2020 Exams will be rescheduled to October 24, 2020 for all global candidates, except for those scheduled to take the test in India. Candidates in India will be rescheduled to November 21, 2020, as testing sites in India will be closed due to holidays on October 24.
- The previously announced November 21 Exams will be held as scheduled, given the information GARP has to date. Registration for the November Exams will begin on May 1, 2020.

Candidates originally scheduled for May, who are now scheduled for an October Exam, can defer to the November 21 date at no additional cost. GARP will allow candidates to make this change in the GARP candidate portal in the two-week period between April 1-15, before regular registration for the November Exams begin.

“We want to give as much certainty as possible to our many candidates all over the world concerning the Exams,” said Richard Apostolik, CEO of GARP. “We are doing everything in our power to ensure that both Exams can be held this year, despite considerable challenges in finding testing sites around the world. This new schedule allows candidates to achieve their career goals in as timely a manner as possible. Our top priority is and always will be the health and safety of our candidates, partners, and stakeholders.”
